Dear Jason,

On behalf of OgilvyOne worldwide I would like to formally thank you and Commerce Press for the exceptional brochures, selfmailers and postcards you produced for our client Motorola.

The pieces were a delight to everyone who saw them and your conscientious commitment to every detail made them not only exceptional as individual pieces but also cohesive when viewed as a campaign.

Given the large quantities we required, it was important to me that both you and your company were available to work evenings and weekends. Your dedication was critical to us meeting our deadlines.

As well, I should add that the brochures you produced for our Cisco client were also outstanding. Any piece that is loosely bound requires the finishing and assembly to be flawless and can be a challenge. Your special attention to the printing and bindery of those pieces was very much appreciated.

So thank you once again Jason. It's always a pleasure to work with Commerce Press and I very much look forward the next opportunity where we can collaborate again.

Yours very sincerely,

Karen Farnocchi
